Project Management Plan

This project explores how transformative technologies such as artificial intelligence, automation, and digital platforms are reshaping the skills required for the future workforce. It aligns with the theme of cultivating a growth mindset by emphasizing flexibility, resilience, and continuous learning. The study highlights the importance of digital literacy, creativity, and systems thinking as essential competencies for thriving in a technology-driven world. It further examines how individuals and organizations can proactively adapt and prepare for sustainable success in evolving work environments
